2. Model: Lunchtime is a good chance to practise healthy and kind habits. We should wash our hands before eating and bring clean drinking water. We can choose meals that suit our needs and include different foods when possible. It is also important to respect other people's meals. We should never laugh at a friend's food. After eating, we can clear our space and put rubbish in the correct bin. These simple habits help us care for ourselves and our classmates.
Accept another relevant coherent response within this practice limit. Check the topic, sentence boundaries, verb forms and spelling.
