1. and

And adds a second item.

2. but

But connects contrasting ideas.

3. or

Or presents a choice.

4. because

Because introduces the reason.

5. so

So introduces the result of being hungry.

6. Although it was cold, we went swimming.

Although introduces contrast. Do not add but to the same clause pattern.

7. If you study regularly, your English can improve.

If gives a condition. Keep can to avoid changing the meaning into a guarantee.

8. Because I was tired, I went to bed.

In this pattern use because for the reason or so for the result, not both.

9. Model: I enjoy reading and swimming.

Connect grammatically parallel items. Accept another meaningful sentence.

10. Model: I learn English because I want to speak confidently.

The because-clause should give a relevant reason.
