Page 1: Use your English

1. Last Friday, our class cleaned the reading corner. I arranged the storybooks while two friends wiped the shelves. Another group made labels for the boxes. At first, we could not find enough space, so we moved a small table. Everyone had a useful job. When we finished, the room looked bright and tidy. I felt proud because we had worked together and made a place that everyone could enjoy.

1. Both animals have wings; it asks another team to test the new clue.

The answer must match the stated details; accept equivalent accurate wording.

2. Both books were correct because the clue was too general.

Check the complete meaning, the verb and punctuation. Accept an equally accurate correction.

3. It has pages, and people use it to read stories. A friend can find an object matching both details and explain the choice. If several objects fit, I can add another detail.

This is one model. Accept a relevant response that includes the requested details, uses clear language and does not invent claims about the source.
