1. Today our group watched birds near the school garden. We stood quietly for ten minutes and noted the colours we could see. At first, we all called out at once, and some birds flew away. We decided that only one person would speak while the others wrote. This helped us observe more carefully. We could not identify every bird, so we will borrow a guidebook next time. I learnt that patient observation is more useful than a quick guess.

කුරුල්ලන් නිරීක්ෂණය කළ දරුවෝ නිහඬව ඉවසීමෙන් තොරතුරු සටහන් කිරීමත් නොදන්නා දේ පොතකින් සොයා බැලීමත් ඉක්මන් අනුමානයකට වඩා ප්‍රයෝජනවත් බව ඉගෙනගත්හ.

2. Look at the sky at eight o'clock. Record what you can observe. Check your entry before you leave.

Page 2: Check before you compare

1. They describe the weather at different times, and the weather may have changed.

The answer must match the stated details; accept equivalent accurate wording.

2. Group A observed the sky at eight yesterday.

Check the complete meaning, the verb and punctuation. Accept an equally accurate correction.

3. Please record the date, time and weather you can observe. Do not guess details you cannot measure. The time matters because the weather may change during the day. Clear records help us compare observations fairly.
