1. Museums help visitors understand the past, so their labels should distinguish confirmed facts from possible interpretations. A confident date can be misleading when it comes only from a memory or a guess. In the railway photograph, the clock suggested one station, but the uniforms raised questions about the date. Printing one answer too quickly could have hidden this useful disagreement.
Uncertainty can also encourage visitors to contribute information. A request for help shows that research is a process, not a collection of perfect answers. However, personal memories should still be compared with other evidence. I recommend that museums label uncertain details clearly and explain what would help confirm them. This approach respects contributors while protecting the accuracy of the collection.
කෞතුකාගාර ලේබලවල නහවුරු කළ කරුණු හා සැක සහිත අර්ථකථන වෙන් කර දැක්විය යුතු අතර, මහජන මතක සටහන් අනෙකුත් සාක්ෂි සමඟ පරීක්ෂා කළ යුතුය.

2. This photograph shows a crowded railway platform. The note "summer visit" appears on the back. The station and year have not been confirmed. If you recognise a detail, please contact the museum and explain the evidence behind your suggestion.
දුම්රිය වේදිකාවක ඡායාරූපයේ ස්ථානය හා වර්ෂය නහවුරු වී නැති බැවින්, විස්තර හඳුනාගන්නා අයගෙන් තම යෝජනාවට අදාළ සාක්ෂි ඉල්ලා සිටී.

1. A group beside a river; the visitor's identification of the bridge.
The answer must match the stated details; accept equivalent accurate wording.
2. The photograph shows a group beside a river, but its school and date have not been confirmed.
Check the complete meaning, the verb and punctuation. Accept an equally accurate correction.
3. The museum could compare the bridge with dated photographs and reliable maps. It could also ask former pupils for information while checking their recollections against records. A display label should state what is visible and identify suggested dates or places as unconfirmed until the evidence is strong enough.
පාලම හඳුනාගැනීමට දින සටහන් සහිත ඡායාරූප, විශ්වාසදායක සිතියම් හා පරීක්ෂා කළ මතක සටහන් සසඳා, ප්‍රමාණවත් සාක්ෂි ලැබෙන තුරු යෝජිත ස්ථාන හා දින නහවුරු නොවූ බව දැක්විය යුතුය.

This is one model. Accept a relevant response that includes the requested details, uses clear language and does not invent claims about the source.
